The Main Bar was established as a sandwich shop in 1958 by retiring circus performer Antonio (Charlie) Borza and his wife Thea. Inspired by her hometown of Florence, Italy, Thea created what has become “Our Famous Italian.”

Charlie and Thea had both been born into circus families and performed with the circus in both Europe and the Middle East, Charlie as a trampoline artist and Thea as a bareback horse rider. In the early 1940’s the Ringling Brothers Circus brought the Borzas to this country.

When they sold the Main Bar in 1972, the Borzas left the wonderful collection of pictures you see hanging on our walls today. These photos pay tribute to many of the fine circus performers with whom they worked or came to know in their careers. Their son Peppi, who became an established theatrical performer in New York and London, left many photographs as well.

Now well over a half century later, the Main Bar continues to be very proud to be a part of Sarasota. Please take a moment to peruse our gallery and enjoy a bit of the Sarasota circus history that is disappearing so quickly.
